

Service information

Fatigue, Anxiety and Breathlessness Clinic

Marie Curie Hospice,
Solihull

Marie Curie
Cancer Care

What is the Fatigue, Anxiety and Breathlessness Clinic?

The clinic helps people with progressive, life-limiting illnesses to cope with some of the symptoms they may be experiencing and enjoy a better quality of life.

Who should attend?

People with illnesses such as cancer, motor neurone disease, heart disease, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD) or renal failure who have any of the following symptoms:

- Fatigue: extreme tiredness and lack of energy.
- Anxiety: feeling out of control, worried or uneasy, or having panic attacks.
- Breathlessness: feeling out of breath more than normal after physical exertion, for example, struggling to cross a room.

How can we help you?

We can help you to:

- Understand why you are feeling the way you do
- Find ways to help relieve your symptoms
- Achieve the best possible quality of life

You will also have the opportunity to talk through your feelings with staff and other people who are experiencing the same symptoms.

How does it work?

Our specialist team includes a doctor, physiotherapist, occupational therapist (OT) and specialist palliative care nurse.

The course consists of one two-hour session a week over a period of four weeks. Group sizes are small with four or fewer people on each course. Your spouse, partner or friend can attend with you if you like.

Week 1: This session will give us the opportunity to discuss your individual needs and if necessary suggest other services that may help you. You will also learn some breathing techniques with our physiotherapist. In the following weeks you will learn how to manage other symptoms with advice and support from members of the team:

Week 2: Practise breathing exercises and other techniques to help relieve your breathlessness.

Week 3: Learn how anxiety can affect your quality of life and find out how various techniques, including relaxation, can help alleviate anxiety.

Week 4: Look at the impact of fatigue on everyday living and practise different methods to conserve your energy. Look at the importance of diet and nutrition and how equipment can help you carry out day to day tasks more easily.

How can I join a Fatigue, Anxiety and Breathlessness Clinic course?

Talk to any health or social care professional and ask them to refer you to the clinic. This might include your nurse, GP, physiotherapist, occupational therapist (OT), or district nurse.

Our contact details

Marie Curie Hospice
911–913 Warwick Road
Solihull
West Midlands
B91 3ER

Phone: 0121 254 7800

Fax: 0121 254 7840

Website: www.mariecurie.org.uk

Email: solihull.hospice@mariecurie.org.uk

To contact the Fatigue, Anxiety and Breathlessness
Clinic direct

Email: fab@mariecurie.org.uk

For links to websites about cancer care, information and support, visit our website:

www.mariecurie.org.uk/patientsandcarers

We hope you are happy with your care

Please tell us how you feel. Pick up a feedback form or complaints leaflet from the hospice reception or phone 0121 254 7800 and ask us to send you one.

Your local Marie Curie Hospice actively promotes quality of life for people with cancer and other illnesses and provides support for their families, completely free.

www.mariecurie.org.uk

Marie Curie
Cancer Care

